From 1 January until 31 August 1966 the Cowboys of the 335th were members of Company A, 82nd Aviation Battalion. As of 1 September 1966 the Cowboys were redesignated. The 335th Aviation Company (Airmobile Light) came into being. Subsequently, this designation was changed to 335th Assault Helicopter Company (AH).

Throughout the year the mission of the unit, regardless of designation, was the same—to provide the 173rd Airborne Brigade (Separate) with the best, most professional airmobile support available anywhere in the world.

To provide this close support, the 335th was attached to the 173rd Airborne Brigade.

The organization of the company with its attached units remained the same. That is, internally, the 335th consisted of two airlift platoons, known as the Rambrods and the Mustangs, an armed helicopter platoon, known as the Falcons, and the service platoon which owned the well-known recovery ship, Horseshoe. Attached to the 335th were the 25th Medical Detachment, the 166th Transportation Detachment and the 234th Signal Detachment. Additionally, the 173rd Aviation Platoon, the organic aviation element of the 173rd Airborne Brigade, was under the operational control of the company, and Casper was their name.

The area of operation for the company, in support of the brigade, was the entire III Corps tactical area of the Republic of Viet Nam. Within this III Corps there were some sectors which caused anxiety in the hearts of the aviators such as War Zone D, the area around Song Be, and around Xuan Loc. But wherever the brigade went, the Cowboys of the 335th were always present.

To speak of the deeds of the Cowboys in an adequate manner, a short summary of the various operations and occurrences must be made.

1966 began in the appropriate manner—a combat lift on New Year's Day to open Operation Heraud in the Bao Trai area. Then becoming Operation Crisp, the Cowboys entered the Hobo Woods, just south of War Zone C. The greater part of January was spent in crushing the Viet Cong in the Hobo Woods. Miss Jo Collins, of Playboy fame, visited the Cowboys. Subsequent mention of this was made in Playboy magazine.

The majority of February involved supporting the brigade in its TACOR (Tactical Area of Responsibility) at Bien Hoa. Codenamed Uniconn, this TACOR work was continued by elements of the brigade during the remainder of the year. Additional support was provided the 1st Infantry Division at Di An.

Possibly one of the finest hours, to date, of the Cowboys occurred during Operation Silver City, in March, in War Zone D. Specifically, on the evening of 15 March a force of two thousand VC encircled the 2/503rd Infantry, a battalion of the 173rd Airborne Brigade. Throughout the night the VC remained silent, but as the first resupply helicopter arrived just after sunrise, the attack began. The resupply helicopter was shot down, ammunition was critical. The Cowboys, responding to the emergency, slung-loaded ammunition into the LZ under withering hostile fire. At the time the first sling load of ammunition arrived, the battalion was using the last that it had on-hand. When the VC broke contact after a day-long battle they left behind four hundred of their dead. To say that the Cowboys saved the day would be an understatement.

On 27 March Major Larry J. Baugman took command of the company from Major Donald A. Champlin who returned to JONUS.
April was the scene of Operation Denver in Song Be area. For this, the company moved in its entirety to the Special Forces camp at Song Be. Numerous combat assaults were performed throughout the heavily jungled area. Very few hits were taken on this operation.

Operation Doctor, during May, took place in an area East of Bien Hoa, yet West of Xuan Loc. A search and clear operation, it was of short duration. Following this was Operation Hardwood, by Ta Bien Gia, just North of Vung Tau. The purpose was to secure a base camp position for the newly-arrived Royal Australian Regiment. Many long range patrol missions were accomplished, to include the first recorded emergency night extraction of an LRRP under fire.

On 9 June Operation Hardwood became Hollandia, a search and destroy mission in the mountains on the seacoast just North of Vung Tau. Another first for the Cowboys — the first night combat assault in the III Corps area of ARVN ever — was the assault to begin the operation. 29 June saw Major Ernest H. Johnson take command of the company from Major Larry J. Beauchman. After Hollandia, Operation Yorktown commenced. Again it was a search and destroy mission. It was during this operation that six hundred and forty U.S. troopers were helilifted from the area of operation, just South of Xuan Loc, to a shower point located near the Xuan Loc airfield. This proved the Cowboys flexibility.

In the second week of July, Yorktown was completed and Operation Aurora I began. Both a road clearing and search and destroy operation, its interest was highway 20, from Xuan Loc North to Da Nang, just inside the II Corps area. The highway was being used rather heavily by the VC. In addition, the rich rice country around Vo Dac was feeding the VC. As the brigade cleared the highway and moved into the Vo Dac area, the operation became Aurora II. The Cowboys then garrisoned themselves at the Vo Dac airfield. The event most probably remembered is the flood which swept everything into the nearby wooded area. But a very tragic occurrence was the crash of a troop-carrying Cowboy and the attendant ten fatalities.

Xuan Loc was the base of operations for the Cowboys in the month of August during Operation Tobago. The brigade, with ARVN units attached, comb the area East of Xuan Loc. Extensive use was made of the long range patrols. Most notable was the rescue, in the fog and rain, of a lone-surviving crewman of a downed navoac aircraft.

The brigade returned in Operation Sioux City to its stamping ground, War Zone D, during September and early October. The Gaspar platoon employed its amed OH-13 aircraft for the first time. The VC seemed to stay out of sight during this operation, probably remembering vividly their defeat in March during Silver City.

Operation Robin began on 10 October. Elements of the 1st Infantry Division were arriving at Vung Tau from CONUS and were to garrison at Bearcat, about ten miles Southeast of Bien Hoa. The operation was then a road security mission, keeping open highway 15 between Vung Tau and Bearcat. Concurrently, the Cowboys provided three UH-1H's and two OH-13's from the Gaspar for Operation Winchester at Da Nang airbase in the I Corps area. It was also during October that the VC sabotaged the Falcon helicopter parking area at Bien Hoa. Before the helicopters could be evacuated one gunship was destroyed and another severely damaged.

With ARVN units attached, the brigade began Operation Meridian in November. The area was War Zone C above Tay Ninh. Making numerous combat assaults and Eagle Flights it was soon discovered that the VC were in the area in force. Thus Operation Attleboro, a multi-divisional operation was born. Despite the terrible terrain, over one thousand VC were killed. There were almost constant combat assaults by the Cowboys throughout the period.

Upon the completion of Attleboro on 20 November the Cowboys reverted to their continual mission of supporting brigade elements in the TDOR at Bien Hoa. In eventual operation Tnaco, developed from the TDOR mission in late November. A search and destroy mission, it covered the area between Bien Hoa and Xuan Loc.

The Cowboy element which was supporting the 1/503rd Infantry at Da Nang returned in early December to Bien Hoa. Operation Canary/Duck, again a mission of securing highway 15 between Vung Tau and Beament, began on 7 December. This time the road was secured for elements of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade and the 9th Infantry Division which were arriving from CONUS. Activities during the operation were normal until 23 December when the 1/503rd Infantry was to be withdrawn from PZ Stump because of the forthcoming Christmas truce. The battalion had had minor contact with unknown enemy forces, and no particular problems were expected during the extraction. However, a surprise was in store. During the extraction a large enemy force made its presence felt by ruthlessly attacking both the troops on the PZ and the Cowboys who were making the extraction lifts. After thirteen lifts by the Cowboys under extremely heavy fire the extraction was complete. The Cowboy aircraft were riddled with holes and two crewmen were injured. This sort of action by the Cowboys was indicative of their skill, their valor.

After the Christmas truce, Operation Canary/Duck continued. And the Cowboys were there. The year closed on that note.

An example of the tremendous efforts expended by the 335th Assault Helicopter Company in the accomplishment of its mission is evidenced by the following statistical data accumulated during the period 1 January 31 - December 1966.

| Company-size Combat Assaults | 1,560 |

A. Mission
   (1) Mission

   The mission of Company A, 82d Aviation Battalion for the entire month of March 1966 was to augment the aviation capabilities of the 173d Airborne Brigade (Sop) by providing support in combat operations and providing tactical and administrative air mobility.

B. Operations

   Company A is capable of providing continuous (day and night) operations during visual weather conditions and limited operations under minimum visual weather conditions. It can provide airlift support for one infantry or dismounted mechanized infantry company. The unit during the month of March, was involved in supporting only the 173rd Airborne Brigade. Company A's UH-1D's performed airlanded assaults (ALA) airlanded resupply (ALR) and command and liaison (CL) mission, while the UH-1B's Falcons, performed visual recon (VR), and escort helicopter (EH) mission.

   1 March 1966

   Company A extracted 2/503rd Infantry (156 troops) from field locations and transported them to the Brigade Base Camp area at Bien Hoa.
   Major Addiss flew load for this extraction. All other missions for this day were normal administrative types.

   2 March 1966

   All missions were normal administrative support for the 173rd Airborne Brigade.

   3. March 1966

   Company A participated in a troop lift for 300 ARVN troops.
   Major Champlin flew load.

   4 March 1966

   All missions were normal administrative support for the 173rd Airborne Brigade.
5 March 1966

Company A participated in a troop lift for the 1st Bde, 1st Inf. Div. Ten UH-1D's transported 110 troops from a location South of Tay Ninh to a field location. Major Champlin flew lead. During this lift one of the Falcon gun ships was shot down with no casualties.

6 March 1966

Company A was attached to the 115th Aviation Battalion to lift elements of the 15th ARVN Division. 10 UH-1D's and 5 UH-1B's flew in this operation and 2 separate lifts were made. A total of 264 ARVN troops were transported. Major Champlin flew lead.

7 & 8 March 1966

All missions were normal administrative support of the 173rd Airborne Brigade.

9 March 1966

Company A was attached to the 115th Aviation Battalion for a lift involving 400 troops. Ten UH-1D's and 5 UH-1B's flew on this lift. Major Champlin flew lead. This lift was the start of operation "Silver City" in War Zone "D", involving the entire 173rd Airborne Brigade. The troops were located at LZ 7/12, 083/26, which became the base for support of the extensive operation. The first lift of the day was at 0730 hours and the move was completed at 1130 hours. The remainder of the day involved logistical resupply for the elements of the 173rd Airborne Brigade.

10 March 1966

Company A supported the 173rd Airborne Brigade with six UH-1D's flying logistical resupply during all daylight hours to various tactical locations in War Zone "D".

11 March 1966

In addition to supporting the 173rd Airborne Brigade on operation Silver City, Company A was attached to the 115th Avn Bn for a combat assault which required ten UH-1D's and 5 UH-1B's. The lift involved 110 ARVN Troops. Major Champlin flew lead. Logistical resupply to the 173rd Avn Bde maintained from sun-up to sun-down.

12 March 1966

Continued logistical support for the 173rd Airborne Brigade in War Zone "D" required six UH-1D's during daylight hours.
13 March 1966

Operation "Silver City" continued requiring six UH-1D's from "A" Company for resupply to all elements of the 173rd Airborne Brigade.

14 March 1966

Company "A" continued to support the 173rd Airborne Brigade in War Zone "D" with six UH-1D's performing logistical resupply from Phuoc Vinh. One UH-1D suffered a hard landing while on a training flight.

15 March 1966

Company "A" provided six UH-1D's for logistical support during daylight hours in War Zone "D" in tall, dense jungle terrain requiring maximum performance of the aircraft.

16 March 1966

This day was the most significant of all during operation "SILVER CITY". During the night 2000 Viet Cong troops encircled the 2/503rd Infantry in a tight area 50 meters in diameter the center of which was the resupply LZ. Their plan of attack was to wait until the first resupply helicopter of the day arrived and then to attack from all directions. The first UH-1D was to be flown by Lt. Roush and Capt. Bennett, but generator trouble delayed the take-off UH-1D 737, flown by CW2 Geishusser and WO McHenry made the first approach to the LZ with 4/1 rations for the 2/503d. Upon approach to the LZ the helicopter tail rotor gear box was shot off and the main transmission was hit by an estimated four 50 caliber bullets. The helicopter crashed in the trees on the Northeast side of the LZ. The gunner suffered an injured neck, while the remainder of the crew suffered only minor cuts and bruises. The VC attack lasted for four hours, with the crew of UH-1D 737 trapped in the middle of the fire fight. As the fighter between the VC and the 2/503d progressed an urgent request for resupply of ammunition went out to Company "A" and only through the determined efforts of four crews dropping sling loads of small arms ammunition into this small LZ was the 2/503d able to beat back the VC attack with light casualties, while the VC suffered 400 killed 1000 wounded.

At the end of this day 7 UH-1D's had suffered combat damage from this resupply effort. Another gunner was wounded by ground fire, and UH-1D 737 was completely destroyed. Several aviators from Company "A" were recommended for combat decorations following this action.

17 March 1966

Following the battle of the previous day Company "A" had an increased resupply and extraction requirement from 2/503 Infantry in order to remove large numbers of captured weapons and fly in personal replacements, as well as to maintain the normal logistical resupply of rations and ammunition. The Viet Cong broke contact for the remainder of the operation.
18 March 1966

Company A continued to provide logistical support to operation "Silver City".

19 March 1966

Elements of the 173rd Airborne Brigade moved to various tactical locations in War Zone "D", and established new resupply LZ's requiring maximum performance from aircraft.

20 March 1966

Company A provided the logistical needs of the 173rd Airborne Brigade, still operating in War Zone "D".

21 March 1966

In addition to providing continued logistical support for the 173rd Airborne Brigade on operation "Silver City", Company A lifted 100 ARVN troops with ten (10) UH-1D's in a combat assault. Following this lift of ARVN troops, the first extraction of troops from War Zone "D" was made by Company A. Eight UH-1D's lifted 261 troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade.

22 March 1966

Extraction of troops from War Zone "D" continued with Company A lifting 260 troops of the Royal Australian Regiment from LZ 12 back to Bien Hoa. This extraction concluded operation "Silver City".

23 March 1966

All missions were normal administrative support of 173rd Airborne Brigade. Repair of combat damaged aircraft continued.

24, 25, 26, March 1966

All missions were normal administrative support of the 173rd Airborne Brigade.

27 and 28 March 1966

All missions were normal administrative support of the 173rd Airborne Brigade. Ten (10) UH-1D's and five (5) UH-1B's placed on 30 minutes standby for operation "Hawk".

TO: Commanding Officer
Company A, 82nd Aviation Battalion
173rd Airborne Brigade (Separate)
APO San Francisco 96250

1. OPERATIONS:

a. Company A, 82nd Aviation Battalion started the month of May by supporting the 1st Infantry Division at Tay Ninh on operation "Birmingham." Eight UH-1D's and one Light Fire Team, after performing six extractions while attached to the 11th Aviation Battalion at Tay Ninh, remained over night at a forward area south of Tay Ninh to prepare for one of the largest helicopter assaults in Vietnam up to that date.

b. On 3 May 1966, Company "A" was planning for Operation "Dexter", a search and clear operation Northeast of Bien Hoa. The next day Company "A", attached to the 145th Aviation Battalion, air lifted 457 troops from the Snake Pit to the operational area. On this day aircraft number 614 received two hits on an approach into LZ "Diamond" in the heart of the operational area - there were no injuries. Also on this day J/C #912, Falcon 87, was hit while making a firing pass on a target that had been firing at aircraft all that day. The aircraft caught fire on the way down but was landed successfully in a rice paddy despite the intense flames. The aircraft burned and became a total loss - there were no injuries.

At 1600 hours on 5 May 1966, an alert was called. The Cowboy's plus attachments were combat ready by 1615 hours. A briefing for all detachments and platoon leaders was given on the physical security plans for the Company. On 6 May 1966, Operation "Dexter" ended with the Cowboys attached to the 145th Aviation Battalion. Seven lifts were made out of LZ "Diamond." Six Cowboy aircraft were hit by enemy ground fire during the extractions. One man was wounded by shrapnel.

c. From the period 6 May 66 to 9 May 66, the Cowboys were attached to the 11th Aviation Battalion on Operation "Birmingham" at Tay Ninh. On 9 May, the Cowboys completed their part in Operation "Birmingham" by resupplying elements of the 1st Infantry Division. At 1500 the Cowboys started their logistical task. The last ship came back to the corral at 2030 hours. The Cowboys carried 65 passengers, 32 tons of cargo, and flew 268 sorties in that short span of time.
d. The next day the Cowboys were alerted to be ready to bring a security force from the 173rd Airborne Brigade (Separate) to a point north west of Vung Tau where a OH-47 helicopter had crashed. The security force never had to go because the Chinook was destroyed by fire. At 2200 hours that evening the CC was notified to be ready to move to the Song Be area in support of the 2/503. Intelligence reports stated that elements of the 101st had pushed a badly beaten force of VC to a point between Song Be and an area about 25K's to the north. The 2/503 was called upon to prevent the VC from moving any farther south and to squeeze them in between the 101st and themselves. After preparation was made, the Cowboys moved out early the next morning. A part of the Cowboys was left behind to participate in Operation "Hardihood", a 173rd Airborne Brigade effort to the north east of Vung Tau. On the first combat assault at Song Be the Cowboys received automatic weapons fire from a tree line while on short final to LZ in a mountain village. A crewchief, Sp4 Woodrum, was hit in the chest from enemy ground fire. He was quickly evacuated to the rear area at Bien Hoa. The bullet punctured a small portion (5%) of his lung and went completely through his spleen. He is now recovering and is expected to be back within a few months. On 12 May 1966, three UH-1D's and one Light Fire Team deployed a long range patrol into a dense jungle area to the north west of Song Be, near the Cambodian border. Three separate locations were chosen and at sunset the three UH-1D's completed their mission. The next day the Cowboys returned from Song Be and prepared for Operation "Hardihood."

e. On 15 May 1966, Falcon #1 and #2 fire teams were scrambled to a location north of Tan Uyen. VC were reported in a rubber plantation. The Falcons struck the first and three confirmed VC were found dead.

f. 17 May 1966 saw the start of Operation "Hardihood" for the Cowboys. On the initial combat assault one Falcon shrapnel hit a rotor blade in the main rotor blades. On a resupply mission on the 18th of May 1966, Aircraft number 609 was hit four times forcing it down into an LZ. It had been hit in the transmission twice and was barely flyable. WO Barrell elected to fly the aircraft to Vung Tau because the unit in the LZ had to move on thereby leaving an aircraft in an insecure area. He made the flight without incident. The gunner on the aircraft received minor wounds from shrapnel. On the 19th of May A/C #45 took 5 hits while escorting a "Dust Off" medevac ship into a forward area. There were no injuries.

g. On 25 May 1966 two UH-1D's conducted Long Range Patrol (LRP) Recovery Techniques in conjunction with E troop 17th Cav. Some of the techniques used were: rappelling from a 50 foot rope, using a rope ladder to climb out of an inaccessible area and using two 125 foot ropes to lift 2 personnel at one time out of a simulated unimproved area where a helicopter could not land. Speed would be essential in recovering the personnel to keep them from falling into enemy hands.

h. On 30 May 1966, A/C #421, an OH-13, crashed in the forward Brigade CP area. Investigation is still underway at the time of this writing.

1 June 1966

1. On 31 May 1966, an orientation class was given to newly arrived personnel into the 173rd Airborne Brigade (Separate). Approximately 200 people participated in the Airmobile class. After the class, a demonstration ride was given to familiarize the new troops with loading and unloading during a combat assault.

4. COMPANY AREA

a. Improvements during the month of May were as follows: a new permanent latrine with porcelain urinals, completion of a new arms room adjoining a new supply room, a movie screen placed where it was best suited for the Company. Other small improvements were made to individual billets. A beautification project was started when Doctor (Capt) Hammergren planted the first tree outside his new office.

5. CIVIL AFFAIRS:

a. The school house in Ngu Phouc is now 85% completed with the roof being put in place over the 1st classroom.

b. The 21st MedCap team again treated over 1200 Vietnamese. They performed first aid and administered shots to the people.
a. Co A, 82nd Aviation Battalion began the month of June by continuing to support the 173d Abn Bde (Sep) in operation "Hardwood." During this period 8/17th Cav with its attached Long Range Patrol, performed many reconnaissance type missions. The Long Range Patrol Teams are usually sent out in six (6) man elements. They are infiltrated by helicopter so that they may not be seen by the enemy. Two teams have been put in previously during this operation and were extracted on the second of June. At 1430 hrs on 2nd of June 66 one patrol was extracted on a P3 under fire. The LRP left three (3) dead V.C. in the P2. That evening aircraft number 736 with Capt Peters as aircraft commander and 1Lt Reush as pilot made an emergency extraction of an LRP at night under fire from a hole in the woods, about seventeen (17) kilometers North of the Fire Support Base. This marked the first successful completion of an LRP at night.

b. On 9 June 66 at 0405 hrs eight (8) UH-1D and two(2) Light Fire Teams left the corral at Bien Hoa enroute to a forward area about eight (8) kilometers northeast of Vung Tau. The "Cowboys" lifted one hundred ninety-eight (198) troops in three (3) LZ's. Two of the LZ's were unsecured. Under moon-light the "Cowboys" skillfully placed the troops into these LZ's making another "first" for Co, 82nd Avn Bn. This was the first night combat assault in the III Corps area in the history of Vietnam. This also initiated operation "Hollandia," a search and destroy mission, in the mountain range East of Vung Tau.

c. On 15 June 66 a scramble was called about 1545 hrs to have the "Cowboys" report to the forward area. Ten (10) UH-1Ds and two (2) Light Fire Teams quickly reacted to the situation. The "Cowboys" hollifted two hundred twenty-two (222) troops into an LZ to the South of Fire Support Base. This only proved the readiness of the "Cowboys" to react to any situation at any time. Operation "Hollandia" ended on the 18th of June 1966.

d. For the next four (4) days the "Cowboys supported the 173d Abn Bde (Sep) on operation "Uniontown." This operation took place in Bde TACOR.

e. On the 20th of June 1966 the "Cowboys" supported the 13th Avn Bn at Soc Trang. The United States Navy had run aground a V.C. vessel full of weapons and ammunition. The "Cowboys" hollifted 390 ARVN troops to that location so that they could secure the area and keep the V.C. from obtaining the ammo and weapons. It was a very successful day for the United States Army in that they confiscated many tons of ammo and numerous Chinese and Russian weapons.

f. 21 June 1966 saw the start of operation "Yorktown," a search and destroy mission approximately seven (7) kilometers South of Bien Hoa. The remaining days of the month were spent in numerous combat assaults in the Yorktown TACOR.
